

Football and conference in London

London has everything you could want from a big city. Shopping, fantastic restaurants, cozy pubs, nice parks, lots of sightseeing and of course FOOTBALL!

On this trip to London, which includes tickets to a Premier League or Championship game, the focus will be just that - football. But for those who are interested, there is always the option of staying an extra day to fill up their cultural quota. Lots of museums, theaters and various music events are available all year round. Visiting one of the West End musicals is usually a pleasant experience - even for those who actually travel to London to watch football!
