

Athens – Greece

In Athens, trendy nightlife mixes with ancient temples. The city has a nice and relaxing atmosphere. Here you can wander around picturesque neighborhoods, sit at cozy outdoor restaurants and enjoy Greek delicacies. The historical sights are impressive, not least the Acropolis! Spring and autumn are undeniably the best time for a visit, then you avoid sweating profusely from the summer heat and crowding among tourists who want to catch up on a visit to the city before they leave for the islands.

HOTEL SUGGESTIONS

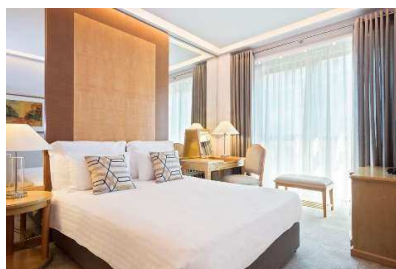

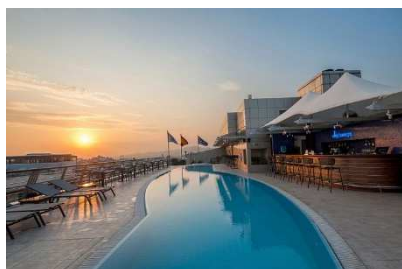

The comfortable 4-star Melia Athens is a property with 136 rooms. In 2004, the hotel opened with traditional architecture.

The hotel has a central location in the heart of Athens. The National Garden is 1.5 km away.

The accommodation is next to galleries, monuments and a museum.

High-speed internet, a personal safe, a display cabinet, ironing facilities and a DVD player are available in all rooms at Melia Athens. Some rooms have a view of Lycabettus Hill.

Guestrooms have private bathrooms with roll-in showers, complimentary toiletries, and terry dressing gowns.

SUGGESTIONS ON APPROACHES:

Day 1

Upon arrival at the airport, a transfer to the hotel awaits. Late arrival at the hotel, so check-in immediately when you arrive. Option for a drink at the hotel's skybar for those who want.

Day 2

After breakfast, a guide will be waiting to take you out on a culinary walk in central Athens. A "food tour" in Greece is just as good as you would expect. You get to taste Greek delicacies such as souvlaki, olive oil and feta cheese. The Greeks are real guinea pigs, expect that you will need a long siesta after this walk!

In the evening, joint dinner at a cozy restaurant in Plaka (old town).

Day 3

After breakfast, a history lesson awaits with a walk up to the Acropolis. Let yourself be captivated by the art of construction and Greek mythology. The view from here is also not to be missed. After the guided tour, you will have free time to spend in Athens. Shopping, more history at the newly built Acropolis museum or take a seat at an outdoor restaurant, the choice is yours! Dinner together in the evening at a popular restaurant in central Athens.
